Introduction

Witnesses to All Nations is an English Language Curriculum based on the Acts of the Apostles. It is designed for learners of English at an intermediate-advanced level (Canadian Language Benchmarks 7-9). It is appropriate for use in church based or academic English as an Additional Language programs, and small groups and tutoring sessions.

A number of writers refer to Luke, the writer of the third Gospel and the Acts of Apostles as a painter (Angelini & Hoagland 1986; Koenig-Brick 1995; Longenecker & Witherington 2002; Caldwell 1959). Luke has been the patron saint of various painters guilds since the XV century. JJ Oosterzee, a Dutch theologian of the 1850's and 1860's, refers to a recent tradition (1860 AD), that Luke was a painter, and painted the portraits of our Lord, the Virgin, and the Apostles. He points out that the writings of Luke are picturesque “full of high and holy art, delighting us by their interesting groups and animated portraits of the best and purest of men (and women). (Oosterzee 1960).

Inspired by this tradition and by Luke’s picturesque language, we as curriculum writers decided on a visual arts focus, particularly highlighting portraits of people in a literal and metaphoric sense. The DVD of the film production, The Visual Bible Acts: A Dramatic Presentation of the Birth of Christianity (Thomas Nelson Bibles) which uses the actual scriptures (New International Version) is used to enhance the visual and auditory presentation of the text. The original title of the first edition of this curriculum, Faith Portraits II: Witnesses to All Nations, alludes to the descriptive style of Luke’s writing. Throughout the curriculum, the learners are working with visual and verbal ‘portraits’ illustrating the people and events surrounding the apostles and the expanding church.

However, in addition to the portraits theme, there are several other important themes that run through the curriculum: the gospel expansion from Jerusalem to the entire world; the role of the Holy Spirit as the ‘main character’ in Acts - the power of the Holy Spirit is mentioned 58 times; the witnesses: the apostles communicating the gospel to a variety of audiences (16 sermons) and persecution of the witnesses and opposition to the message. The map tasks and conversation boards highlight the theme of traveling, allowing the learner to vicariously follow in Paul’s footsteps as he journeys around the Middle East.

Curriculum Introduction

This curriculum is built on a communicative view of language.

Communicative language ability is being able to use language to interact, to express, to interpret, to negotiate meaning, and to create understanding in a variety of social contexts and situations. Communicative language ability includes knowledge about what to say and how to say it, to whom, in what circumstances, and for what purpose, combined with the strategic procedures and skills of how to use it. Communicative competence* can be divided into five components: linguistic, discourse/textual, functional, sociolinguistic and strategic:

- 1) Linguistic competence is the knowledge of grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation. It is the ability to recognize and formulate grammatically correct sentences according to the rules of English.
- 2) Discourse/Textual competence is the knowledge and ability to build larger texts (both spoken and written) in a way that the text is cohesive (sticks together) and coherent (makes sense logically). It is the ability to connect language into a larger meaningful and logical whole.
- 3) Functional or Actional competence is the ability to convey and understand the intent behind language. It includes the ability to get information across, engage in social interaction, get things done, persuade others and use language for learning, work and recreation. It also includes the ability to make requests, threats, warnings, please, etc.
- 4) Socio-cultural competence is the ability to produce and understand language appropriately. This includes knowing and using the rules of politeness, an understanding of varieties of language (e.g. formal and informal), knowledge of idioms and figurative language; knowledge of culture, and the ability to use interactional skills to establish and maintain social relationships.
- 5) Strategic competence is the ability to manage communication, for example knowing how to repair difficulties in communication or knowing when and how to scan a text for information.

A communicative view of language provides the basis for a communicative way of teaching language to speakers of other languages. Traditionally, language teaching has addressed exclusively the linguistic building blocks of language (vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation). At times, the focus on grammar excluded all other aspects. A communicative view entails addressing linguistic aspects, but in the context of authentic text and with an emphasis on communicative ability. For example, traditional grammar teaching has often consisted of tedious exercises based on de-contextualized sentences, remote from the everyday lives of language learners.

Functional Grammar (M. Halliday) highlights the influence of context in language. Each element of language is accounted for by describing how it functions within discourse. Functional grammar is not a set of rules but a resource for describing, interpreting and making meaning. In this curriculum strategic competence is addressed by highlighting strategies for reading, writing, listening, speaking and vocabulary.

A communicative view of language is also the foundational rationale for a curriculum design that is text-based, task-based, content-based and has an integrated skills focus.

1. Text-based curriculum design: The biblical text, which forms the basis of this curriculum, is an authentic text used in everyday life in many parts of the world. In addition, the supplementary texts come from a variety of subjects and genres. An authentic text avoids the contrived nature that can be characteristic of texts written specifically for the purposes of language teaching. In authentic texts, language occurs naturally within the discourse context of the larger passage. The aspects of language that are taught emerge from an analysis of the text for the communicative competencies involved in understanding it and interacting with it. For example, as curriculum writers we begin by asking the following questions: What linguistic features occur in the text (what grammar? what vocabulary? what pronunciation?) and are key to understanding and interacting with the text? What functions are going on in the text? What discourse structures are at work in the text? What sociolinguistic/socio-cultural issues are going on in the text? The answers to these questions become the basis for language tasks. Because of the wide variety of genres and topics, the Bible lends itself to exploring language used in many facets of everyday life including the sociolinguistic and cultural aspects of language use.

Curriculum Introduction

2. Task-based language teaching: According to David Nunan, “A task is...a piece of classroom work which involves learners in comprehending, manipulating, producing or interacting in the target language while their attention is principally focussed on meaning rather than form.” (Nunan 95:10) Willis & Willis describe a number of task types: listing, ordering and sorting, matching, comparing, sharing personal experiences, problem-solving and creative tasks (Willis & Willis 2007). These various task types address key learning styles such as visual, kinesthetic and auditory, as well as an array of multiple intelligences. The tasks are structured around the various communicative competencies and build upon one another.
3. Content-based Curriculum: Content-based instruction (CBI) is a teaching method that emphasizes learning about something rather than learning about language. Although CBI is not new, there has been an increased interest in it over the last number of years, particularly in North America where it has proven very effective in ESL immersion programs. The purpose of this curriculum is to learn English language, but also to learn biblical and related content.
4. Integrated curriculum: Witnesses to All Nations is an integrated curriculum where all four macro-skills are addressed around the same themes. Listening, reading, writing and speaking are taught in the context of strategic competence with a focus on the strategies that lend themselves best to understanding and interacting with the text.

Therefore, the tasks in each unit are each designed with a specific focus in mind. They fit together into an overall design of MEANING, FORM and USE.[†]

The first four tasks (tasks 1-4) of each unit focus on the MEANING of the text. In these tasks the main purpose is for the learners to understand what the text communicates. The first task in each unit opens with a pre-reading, pre-listening task that begins with the experience of the learners, activates prior knowledge and prepares them for listening and reading the text. Task 2 in each unit is a listening/viewing task in which the learners are exposed to the text for the first time by means of the Visual Bible. In Task 3 the learners deal with key academic vocabulary for comprehension. The focus of this task is to explore academic vocabulary, word families, collocations and use. Task 4 is a reading task designed to give the learners a basic understanding of the content of the text through the instruction of a variety of reading skills and strategies.

[†] The authors of this curriculum would like to acknowledge the idea of Form, Meaning and Use, taken from Diane Larsen-Freeman. However we have adapted the use of these terms slightly.

The focal point of the next four tasks (tasks 5-8) is the FORM of the language. Tasks 5 and 6 have a pronunciation focus. Task 5 deals with segmental aspects (individual sounds) while Task 6 moves into supra-segmental elements such as word stress, sentence stress, rhythm, pitch and intonation. Task 7 explores experiential aspects of grammar, dealing with grammar forms at the sentences level, using Grammar Shapes, a visual and kinesthetic form of conceptualizing grammar relationships. Task 8 has an interpersonal and discourse grammar focus to help the learners develop sociolinguistic competency.

The final four tasks (tasks 9-12) take the learners back into understanding the text at a deeper level and lead them to a functional USE of the language acquired throughout the unit. Task 9 guides the learner into a deeper understanding of the meaning of text. Analytical and critical thinking skills are fostered. A variety of discussion boards are used to facilitate reflection and discussion surrounding the underlying themes addressed in the text, moving the learners also to reflect on similar themes in contemporary life. Task 10 is a writing task in which the learners gain writing skills and apply the language in a functional form useful for everyday life. Task 11 introduces the learners to a supplementary text that is thematically related to the Biblical text but comes from a variety of genres to aide learners' higher level reading strategies. Task 12 focuses on the structure of a variety of essay forms that are common particularly in academic writing, making the task particularly helpful for learners preparing for post-secondary studies in Bible and Theology, though its use is not limited to such contexts.

As writers, it is our privilege to share this curriculum with you. It is our prayer that it will enhance your ministry as you serve among people of every race and nation, all of whom are called to praise the Triune God (1 Peter 2:9) and to a ministry of peace and reconciliation in the world (2 Corinthians 5:18).
